

The heatmap displays a 10x10 matrix. The diagonal elements, from (0,0) to (9,9), are bright yellow, representing the highest values. The off-diagonal elements are mostly dark purple, representing low values. There are some lighter purple patches, particularly in the lower-left quadrant, suggesting moderate values in certain off-diagonal positions.

